Mail-in ballots make my life and other Oregonians' lives so much easier. I work a full-time job and have limited access to transportation. Being able to vote, on my own time, from the convenience of my home is a lifesaver. I could go on and on and on about the benefits of mail-in voting for specific demographics, but I'll let those people speak for themselves. As for my personal opinion, I think this bill is unnecessary and won't do Oregonians any good. To the senators supporting this bill, I think you need to take a long, hard look and why you think this is necessary and worth your time. Does this actually help the people of Oregon? Have you done your research? Have you carefully weighed and investigated the counterarguments? Is this really what you want?
