I am firmly opposed to repealing mail-in voting. Mail-in voting is a fundamental part of our voting system here in Oregon and has been for many years. It is a very functional system which allows us to achieve the high voting numbers that we have. Our state has large quantities of very rural areas, and it is unfathomable to me that anyone would want to make those people work so hard just to exercise their civic duty. Vote by mail is essential to Oregon's future.
