I oppose revoking mail-in voting and switching Oregon's voting system to in-person voting on election day. Oregon has some of the highest voter turnout in the nation and that is greatly aided by mail-in voting giving Oregonians flexibility when participating in our democratic process. Any effort to curtail mail-in voting is an effort to disenfranchise voters who cannot make it to the polls on election day. Oregon's democracy is as strong as the participation of its people; switching to in-person voting is a clear mistake.
