Hello I am a donor conceived person who was conceived in Oregon. Having an anonymous donor has had a negative impact on my life. I have a seizure disorder that is geneticly linked to my donors side.

Having access to my medical history would have made getting the care I need quite a bit easier.

Also the promise of anonymity to donors at this point is a lie. With dna testing I found my donor after 3 years of research despite the fact that he never tested.

I was called selfish for finding him because he was promised anonymity but I never made that promise I never signed a contract.

My right to know my genetic history was sold at a hefty sum before I existed.

With no care for the person they intended to create from this transaction.
