SB210

Vote by mail in Oregon has been a huge success, and with absolutely no negative effects. Voting by mail lets us research measures and candidates more thoroughly and over a period of several days. It also lets those of us who work research and cross reference on our evenings and weekends to make informed decisions. Those of us who work would appreciate not having to take time off just to vote, and those with odd schedules and disabilities don't need the added complication of having to request an absentee ballot. The motivations behind this measure seem suspicious at best-let's keep track of who backs it!
