Voting by mail and ballot drop off is cost efficient and allows for more informed voting. I spend eight to twelve hours reading the ballot book, researching candidates' stances, and doing due diligence to cast my ballot by mail. I fill out my ballot over many days, carefully considering the impact of each choice.

I am able to work this time into any schedule; if in-person voting were mandated, thousands of people would be unable to vote due to inadequate polling booths and inability to get off of work for several hours during a standard workday. This bill has no provision to accommodate any of this.

Eliminating vote-by-mail or vote-by-drop off is voter suppression, and our rights as voters must be protected.
