Please stop wasting everyone's time with ridiculous legislation of this nature. No one wants this. As someone originally from a state where day-of in-person voting was the only option, there is no sane (let alone equitable) argument to be made to switch access to voting. There are voters who will not be able to be approved for time off to vote by their place of work, and isn't easy access to voting one of the pillars of a democracy? Are we just going to legislate democracy out of existence?
