Oregon has a problem. Its voter rolls are a mess with non-citizens and others who have no right to vote and dead people. We have counties with voter rolls with numbers more than 100% of eligible voters. We see evidence of ineligible voters who have voted. Oregon has refused to fix its voter rolls. Allowing ballots to come in 5 days post-election was ruled illegal in one circuit court and is headed to the supreme court.

Going back to in person voting with ID would solve the major issues in Oregon voting. An added benefit is that we would know the results the same night. Each precinct used to count the votes and roll them up to the county and the state. Oregon could have secure and fair elections again.
