

Submitter:

Heather Knopf

On Behalf Of:

Committee:

Senate Committee On Rules

Measure, Appointment or Topic:

SB210

There is absolutely no precedent for taking away mail in voting. There is no evidence to show that mail in voting adds to fraud. A vote is a vote and making in-person voting the norm could render many people unable to make it to the ballot box. Taking away mail in voting is tantamount to taking the voices of many voters away. I sincerely hope all who vote on this measure understand how detrimental it is to citizens. I would ask that aside from keeping mail in ballots, we work on a secure way to have electronic ballots. If we can all file our taxes electronically, voting should be just as easy and if we can keep things like finances, and military information secure, I am sure we can make a secure way to vote electronically. Make it EASIER for citizens of this country to vote rather than more difficult.