This is more ridiculous nonsense based on misinformation, fear-mongering, and is anti-democratic. Vote by mail is safe, secure, and makes voting more accessible for all registered voters. We should be doing everything we can to have a modern, highly accessible, secure voting system and going back to in-person voting is only an attempt to make voting less accessible and therefore lower turnout. Oregon should be proud of their 44-year-old vote-by-mail system and consistently having one of the highest voter turnouts in the nation. Only in bizarro-world is this considered a "problem."
