Everyone in my family, including me, travel abroad for long stretches of time, but always continue to vote by mail. It helps keep us grounded and coming back home to Oregon. We bring back skills and knowledge. We volunteer to spread knowledge with various organizations.

I'm home again and absolutely think vote by mail is amazing. I get a packet, make some coffee, due on my balcony, and make good informed decisions.

The elderly need vote by mail. Our institutions constantly fail to make Corning in person a reliable experience.

If the goal is to get everyone to vote, keep vote by mail.

(Sorry for typos, in in Hawaii, volunteering, and sending my opinion by mail since i won't be home till after this results attempt at weekend voter outcome.)
