Why are we trying to make the democratic process of voting more difficult? You literally cannot point to any significant empirical evidence of mail in voter fraud, so then why? This bill serves no purpose other than to discourage those who cannot, such as those with disabilities or time constraints, or those simply do not want to vote in person from voting at all. This is a genuinely shameful way for republicans in the state to try and garner more votes. If I could make a suggestion, maybe don't make tax cut outs for billionaires while crying about a budget? Maybe also don't do this while slashing federal programs that benefit a broader base of voters? I'd like to submit a motion to give the Gentlemen who submitted this bill and sponsored it, Senators Smith and Thatcher, a big red nose for the rest of the session. You're fucking clowns if it wasn't obvious. How dare you submit shit like this in your positions and tell us you're helping make our state and country a better place for us all.
