I oppose this strongly. Why are we trying to go backwards on a platform that works for so many people? If there is a problem in the system, let's fix that and not create voting hardship for large population. Make tighter controls to be allowed to do mail in voting. Let's not give in to an administration that wants to control voting by elimination of a population that cannot physically get to a voting station.

Consider that voting from home allows for a more informed and educated vote. I for one often re-read the voting pamphlet to clarify my decisions. And having my voting ballot allows me to see who and what I am voting for.

Voting by mail is all I have ever done since moving to Oregon many decades ago. It feels like an attempt to limit my constitutional right to vote.

There are so many pros to voting by mail. Why are we even considering taking that away? This would never have become an issue if the current president wasn't in office.

The cons for not doing mail in voting are many.

Please do the right thing and keep mail in voting.
