

Submitter:	Raechell Hurtado de Mendoza
On Behalf Of:	Rights as a citizen
Committee:	Senate Committee On Rules
Measure, Appointment or Topic:	SB210

In democracy, voting is not a privilege. If we are giving up our RIGHTS then we need something pretty big in return. If this is somehow necessary and not a disgusting ploy, then to keep our democracy, we must do something very radical

This should ONLY pass if we get to legally torture politicians and the rich parasites stealing our democracy to death if they do anything to displease us.

If voting is not an easily available RIGHT and it is a privilege to those who can easily volunteer hours of their time, we must be well compensated for the service to torture any politicians- or anyone who has more money or power than the upper middle class- if they do anything to displease. (Dealers choice.) I do mean ANYTHING. Not just "i dont like dying of pollution caused cancer as i and my loved ones languish in poverty" of course that, but ALSO: i dont like your tone? Death by torture. Ugly shoes? Death by torture. Annoying voice? Death by torture.

Death by torture. If those who claim to represent us do not live in existential fear of being dragged out and mutilated if their popularity falls a single vote below 95% then we have to be able to AT LEAST vote easily and freely as is our RIGHT. If we have to go out of our way, sacrifice a day of pay- its not a right. Its a privilege.

If we are relinquishing a right OWED to citizens instead of availing it to all denizens, then we had better get a very, very, very big in return. We are not immune to fascism. We are not out of danger of technofeudalism.