So, the idea here is that if Republicans keep losing, let's make it harder for Democrats to win? Just stop it, you losing losers of Loserville. There is nothing intrinsically wrong with our mail-in system. Meanwhile Elon Musk is busy with AI and Starlink rigging electronic voting systems. Is that what you want? Of course it is. If Republicans had better candidates, they would win more elections; yes, via our mail-in voting system. But you keep picking candidates that we don't agree with or even trust. Shame on you. Knock it off. If you dare mess with our mail-in voting system, you will pay by losing more.
