SB210

I am now retired but for over 30 years I commuted 100 miles a day to and from work. During that time, depending on the hours I was working, weather conditions and traffic, it would have been difficult for me to get home to my polling place. I was grateful for "vote by mail". Not only did it make placing my vote easier, but I loved being able to sit at my kitchen table and take as long as I wanted to complete my ballot. When we were required to vote in person, I do not recall ever having to present identification. I simply stated my name and they found me on the list and handed me a ballot. I think voter fraud is greatly exaggerated. I do not believe there is any more now than when voting in person.
