Pros of voting by mail:

1. Convenience – Voters can complete their ballots from home without needing to travel to a polling place.
2. Accessibility – It benefits people with disabilities, elderly voters, and those with mobility challenges.
3. Time to Research – Voters can take their time to study candidates and issues before making a decision.
4. Reduced Crowds – Helps ease congestion at polling places, reducing long wait times.
5. Security – Many states have safeguards like signature verification and ballot tracking to prevent fraud.
6. Increases Participation – Encourages voting among those who might not otherwise make it to the polls, such as those with busy schedules or living in rural areas.
7. Eliminates Scheduling Conflicts – Voters don't need to worry about work, school, or other obligations on Election Day.
8. Reduces Costs – Can be more cost-effective in the long run by minimizing the need for polling place infrastructure and staff.

Why do Republicans want to reduce accessibility and make it harder for citizens to vote is the real question.
