I believe that voting is an incredibly important part of being an American, and, in turn, I believe that it is very un-American to limit the ease of voting. We have proper things in place to ensure that folks who should be voting are. One has to wonder if this is an attempt to suppress voters and votes under false concerns.

We have great voter turn out in our beautiful state largely because of voting by mail, and the desire to take that away is suspicious, to say the least.
