SB210

As a fifth-generation Oregonian, I strongly oppose Senate Bill 210. Oregon's mail-in voting system is a nationally recognized model for secure, accessible, and efficient elections. I take great pride in our state's leadership in voter participation and election integrity. There is no justification for dismantling a process that has consistently proven to be safe and reliable. Requiring in-person voting and restricting mail-in ballots would needlessly disenfranchise many voters and undermine a system that has worked exceptionally well for decades
