

Hello,

I strongly oppose the repeal of Oregon's mail-in voting system. As a working-class individual, I am unable to take time off work to vote in person. Eliminating mail-in voting would negatively impact all Oregonians, regardless of political affiliation.

Oregon's diverse landscape includes many rural areas where access to in-person voting would be challenging. Additionally, in densely populated metropolitan areas, long lines and extended wait times could create further barriers to participation. In-person-only voting would also disproportionately affect seniors, individuals with disabilities, and rural residents, making it harder for them to exercise their right to vote.

Furthermore, there is no significant evidence of voter fraud in Oregon's mail-in voting system. It has been a reliable and secure method for over two decades, with Oregon consistently leading the nation in voter turnout.

Additionally, mail-in ballots are inherently secure from hacking, as they are paper-based and not susceptible to electronic interference.

I urge you to protect Oregon's accessible and trustworthy mail-in voting system, which ensures that all Oregon citizens can participate in our democracy.

Thank you for your time and consideration. - Lori Sullivan
