SB210

Mail-in ballots have been successful in Oregon for decades. As a lifelong Oregon resident, I have always voted by mail - in fact, I've never voted in person! Besides the enormous cost and logistics of setting up in-person voting again, the mail-in ballots allow MORE people to vote, especially those who are unable to make it to the polls at a specific time. Lack of childcare, lack of transportation, inability to take time off of work - these are just a few of the reasons why mail-in ballots are crucial. SB210 aims to making voting more difficult for our citizens, and moving to default in-person voting would be a step backward for Oregon.
