Requiring In Person Voting is antiquated. Many voters are not in town on "Voting Day". Many voters live in rural areas where they cannot access a voting booth easily. The Oregon population is aging, so getting to a Voting Booth on an exact day is not physically easy or they may be disabled. I think Voting should remain as it is in Oregon, voting by mail reaches a larger swath of population and allows those people who can get to a Voting Booth, to vote in all elections that pertain to them.
