

I am writing to support in-person voting on Election Day and the elimination of mail-in ballots. Mail-in voting creates vulnerabilities in our electoral system, including ballot harvesting, box tampering, and distribution to ineligible voters. Delayed ballot counting hinders proper auditing and prevents same-day results. When apparent election-night winners are later overturned, public confidence in our electoral process is undermined.