

Submitter:

Caitlin Cochran

On Behalf Of:

Committee:

Senate Committee On Rules

Measure, Appointment or Topic:

SB210

Mail-in-voting has been shown to increase voter turnout and gives a simple way for those who have difficulties leaving the house to make their voices heard. Ending it would disenfranchise many voters and turn local voter opinion more against the government in general. This especially includes seniors and people living in very rural areas. Every Oregonian I've talked to loves mail-in-voting and some of them would not vote if it was less convenient.