The State of Oregon's mail in voting practice should be held up as a model for how voting is done fairly and efficiently for a State in the United States. Mail in voting encourages the largest turnout possible, allows disabled or working families the chance to vote without discomfort or taking time off from work and provides tracking of your ballot to make sure it is counted. There are adequate drop boxes available or the ballot can be mailed. This is a system that has served Oregon well for many years. Attempts to undermine this system are purely meant to disenfranchise voters and make it harder for under represented voices to be heard. I strongly recommend a vote against SD210 and I will not support a representative who votes for this bill.
