I am against this horrible idea to try and make voting harder. Show me actual evidence of mass voter fraud and I am happy to change my mind. The few instances of voter fraud I'm aware of were idiots voting more than once for Trump. And I don't believe that was by mail. I love getting my ballot in the mail, spending time researching how I plan to vote and then walking my ballot on Election Day to an official drop off location where my neighbors are doing the same and have had some great random interactions with my fellow citizens.
