I do not want in person voting. It's a hassle as it means people will need to schedule time off work, not to mention the hassle of having to bring the necessary documentation. There has been no evidence of mail in voter fraud that is legitimately undermining democracy. I like being able to vote from the comfort of my own home and being able to look up all the information on every candidate and measure up for vote in my own time. I can vote in my pajamas and take my sweet time at midnight if I want to. You have to register to vote by mail. You have to prove you are a person who can legally vote before they send you a ballot. In person voting means people can intimidate others to vote a certain way or to just go home. I don't want to go backwards, I want to go forwards. In person voting is going backwards. Don't do it.
