SB210

First, proof-of-citizenship is established by registering to vote. There is no need for a secondary process. As a naturalized citizen I distinctly remember having to register for the first time with all the necessary proof of my newly acquired citizenship. I am required to maintain my registration, update my mailing address, and sign my ballot at every election.

Repealing mail-in-voting is nothing more than an attempt to suppress voter turn-out, introduce unnecessary barriers to voting, and pointlessly add additional costs to the process for all involved for zero benefit since voter fraud is nearly non-existent in Oregon. This bill is also wildly at odds with what Oregonians want since the bill that enabled mail-in-voting was overwhelmingly popular.

I vehemently oppose this bill.
