I live in a rural area, so I was so happy with vote by mail. I can figure out how I want to vote on each topic, fill it in, and then send it in the mail. I use the tracking capabilities to know that my vote will be counted. I love it!!! It also was wonderful to vote by mail when I was working, so that I didn't have to worry about arranging my day in order to make it to the polls on time. As far as I'm concerned, anyone demanding vote in person is trying to limit the number of people who can vote, since it's a lot harder to make it to the polls than it is to vote by mail. We should be making it easier to vote, not harder, otherwise a minority will be deciding how a majority will live and be represented. Another thing, is that in-person voting costs a lot more. I thought that politicians were supposed to be looking for less expensive ways to run our country (and state), not more expensive ones. I certainly don't want MY hard-earned tax dollars being wasted on in-person voting, when we have a great mail-in voting system already established.
