I OPPOSE making in-person voting on the day of an election the standard.

Once upon a time is not today!

One example is that many more today can not make it to their polling place for a certain period of time for only one day.

Another is that especially TODAY, the attempt to rid of mail-in voting is not only VERY concerning, but VERY transparent.

Why pretend to 'fix' something that was never broken to begin with. Oregon has a high voting rate because of mail-in. Hello!

Thank you for your time,

Mina Faville
