I strongly oppose the measure to make in-person, on-the-day voting the standard in Oregon. I'm 26 years old, and every time I've been eligible to vote in an election, I've voted by mail. It's easy, it's secure, and it gives me time to actually inform myself of the candidates or measures on the ballot. Voting is an essential part of our democracy, and it should be remain as easy and accessible as possible to vote. The rest of the country should follow our lead on mail-in voting — we shouldn't backslide to their level.
