

I vehemently oppose SB 210.

As a longtime Oregonian, I have always found that mail-in ballots are invaluable to knowledgeable voting. Being able to research bills and candidates from the comfort of my home has been a blessing. I'm disabled, in a wheelchair and no longer able to drive or easily use public transport, so the simplicity and pleasure of voting at home along with my family and like every other citizen in Oregon is a gift.

Also there's no evidence that voting by mail is any more subject to tampering than in-person voting, for which there's also basically no evidence of wrongdoing.

Just sick of this Republican charade attacking voting.
