mail in voting is envied by almost every person i have talked to out of state. it bolsters turn out, it's accessible to so many people and convenient.

i have immuno-compromised people in my life and wear a mask full time at work and in public. i avoid crowds and do everything i can to keep my friends and family safe.

not having to crowd into a voting center during a tight window to bubble in boxes that i could easily bubble in at home makes me feel much safer.

it is a helpful and fantastic system and getting rid of it should be seen as nothing other than an attempt the suppress votes. a bold one at that. i oppose changing to in-person voting vehemently. thank you.
