Mail-in voting is safe and secure. This bill would not reduce fraud, but would instead disenfranchise voters, particularly those who work long hours with long commutes, who can't get home in time to get to their polling places.

Another downside would be the affect on informed voting. Currently, I can open my ballot and go through it slowly, taking the time to research each candidate and issue. In the 'good old days', the first time I knew anything about some of the races was when in the polling booth.
