Oregon is a leader in mail-in voting. It makes voting accessible for everyone. I remember spending hours in line after a long day of work—if I got off in time to vote. Please don't take us backward. Voter fraud is practically unheard of, and mail-in votes creates a paper trail.

We do need safety for people who might fear to vote their conscience in front of people they live with, but we can put those protections in place without giving up mail-in voting.
