I didn't know how great Oregon's mail-in voting would be until I moved here and learned. It's secure. It's safe---you don't have to leave your house. It's satisfying: you have time to look up candidates, positions, issues, measures, and make an INFORMED choice instead of flying by the seat of your pants in a booth somewhere at the end of a long line. The fact that this regime wants to remove the option is another example of their intent to control elections, interfere with voting and destroy what is left of our democratic process. This kind of ruling by executive order must not be allowed in America, where our greatness comes from our people and our ability to cooperate for the greater good.
