Civil commitments are tortuous and insane treatment designed to remove people from society. The world has yet to find a therapeutic psychiatric treatment. Social psychologists claim they are an indication of a problem with of a social structure; really, sometimes they are victims of an illegal activity or corrupt practice. Extending the time for these commitments is the worst possible scenario. We should change our federal laws to cause systemic change that allow unhealthy behaviors which cause emotional unwell was and lack of intellectual activity. I would appreciate the attention to societal problems such as not stringent enough drug policies. We should designate our best attention to the education of our entire society and to the commitment to wellbeing and self reliance. I would appreciate not passing this bill and directing attention to ending psychiatric catchment processes.
