To Whom It May Concern,

I'm writing today in strong opposition to SJR 30. As a lifelong Oregon resident, I've witnessed firsthand how dangerous it can be when political power goes unchecked.

I have signed countless petitions to remove elected officials—including our current governor—who have repeatedly abused their positions. This resolution threatens to strip we the people of our ability to contest legislation that is often passed without our consent or involvement.

SJR 30 is not just a technical amendment—it's a direct assault on the voice and power of the people. It opens the door to further government overreach, and weakens the very checks and balances that are supposed to protect us.

Oregon is quickly starting to reflect California in the worst ways. And the reality is, people are fleeing that state because of policies just like this. Let's not make the same mistake.

Keep Oregon, OREGON.

Sincerely

Brandi
