

Submitter: Bryce Holt

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Judiciary

Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB2467

We should employ strategies of modeling good behavior wherever possible as people can grow into being better people through mimicking their peers. Restraining people physically/ chemically only tends to exacerbate their condition and long term challenges. Additionally, the exorbitant costs involved in this proposed endeavor can clearly be better utilized through community outreach endeavors.