SB1015

I live in fear daily because of our lax gun laws in the U.S. I'm certain I am not alone in this fear. What is especially troubling is the lack of regulation on rapid fire guns. It makes absolutely no sense that an individual would need to own this kind of gun. The only people this benefits are the people who own the companies that make and sell these guns. Please pass this bill and let us all feel more safe, at least in our own state. If you look at other countries who have strict gun laws while at the same time allowing people to own guns, you will see that death by gun violence is minuscule compared to the US.
