The wildfire map is grossly inaccurate in its classification of low risk, moderate risk to high risk. I've already sent in my appeal letter because my property is mis-classifide. It's also extreme government overreach. The forest of Oregon have been neglected for several decades, since the shut logging down and environmentalist took over, the brush and under growth and noxious weeds are so thick and this is what fuels these intense wildfires. The department of forestry and BLM need to properly manage the forest or they need to be defunded.
