SJR30

SJR 30 is a legislative attempt to stop the citizens of Oregon from fighting back against legislation that the opposition has installed as law. It makes it significantly more difficult for the people of Oregon to disagree with/or make known their opinions on government employees. In the State of Oregon we have the right to recall public officials only through the petition process. This bill attempts to stop the process whereby we can voice our opinions and/or take action against unfit politicians. Our right to express ourselves on the workings of our government will be vastly undermined. Please leave our right to petition our government alone. It is already burdensome as is.
