HJM13

This house resolution is a non-binding one. However, the message of this measure is clear; the federal government must abide by the constitution. Sending troops to wars is without declaration of war is unconstitutional. Any zone that involves an armed conflict is a war zone and must follow the constitution. Additionally, the National Guard of the state falls under the command of the state, which can only be transferred to the president with Congressional authorization. None of that has been happening and the result is abuse and forever wars. I urge you to support this resolution in hopes influencing the federal government.
