This is a bad bill in a few ways. I may not want or need any such device, yet I oppose this bill as it's worded to actually allow legal traction to bad people whom do far worse things in committing both heinous and egregious crimes.

As in:

Opening the argument a felony is a misdemeanor and needs to be prosecuted as such for machine gun use, Poseidon transfer or sales.

It would literally make the case that ' if I use a machine gun it's now a misdemeanor, by law"

Making a case that defense can openly site, object and argue against any case involving an added on device, or an actual machine gun.

The long short of this is:

It's a bad bill

It's impossible to know if such a device even exists until after mechanical inspection and Poseidon of Duce firearm or firearm with said device.

Law enforcement is already tasked with several newer ' borderline actions and decisions to make, while this adds to the list.

For that, and it's legal miss use down the road, I oppose this misdirected and intentionally hanfull bill.
