This clearly is a loop hole to keep people from being able to activate there 2nd amendment when needing to right away. How many law suits is the state going to indure because someone couldn't get a gun and gets killed on a timely manner. It's clearly unconstitutional and very wreckless of the state to even motion something like this ! None of this will do a single thing when it comes to gun safety. Maybe start offering free mental health to the ones in need instead, or start teaching gun safety in school as a elective.
