I live on a 10 acre farm south of Junction City Oregon. I am absolutely opposed to this unnecessary bill. The last thing I need is the state of Oregon meddling in the operation of my farm. Paying the state to pump ground water from beneath my own property? Is there no limit to how hard you will squeeze Oregon taxpayers for another dollar? My farm, with a domestic water well, and an irrigation well has been a farm since 1941. I have lived here since 1994. You are crazy if you think that somehow the state will take better care of my property, or the resources on, above, or under it than I do. Douglas Lane
