Oregon already is one of the highest state paying taxes. We can not afford more tax burden increases. I feel like Oregon is already overstepping when it comes to state fire map and water rights to Oregonians. We pay enough in taxes this needs to stop, it's out of hand. Maybe they should focus on Forrest management and allowing state land logging to clean things up and keep our Forrest managed, so we have less fires. Some of these fires that have started they blame power companies and then what they raise their prices significantly because they get sued? It's always the hardworking tax payers keeping things a float and we are sick of being held responsible for mismanagement of tax dollars and irresponsible politicians in Oregon.
