My name is Whitney Jacques and I am a farmer and rancher from Portland. I am writing today to support HB 3372-5. Currently in Oregon it is legal to water a ½ acre garden or use 5,000 gal/day for a commercial purpose, but neither of those apply to growing food and farm products for sale. Why is it legal to use the water for personal use, but selling a single zucchini from my garden would mean I was breaking the law?

This personally impacts me because I work with landowners who dream of being able to feed their community and legally are not allowed access to their own water to do so. At the current allowable domestic rate, they could fill and drain a swimming pool every day but they can't water and sell a 1/2 an acre of healthy produce. Our community needs small farms; a half an acre plot being watered from a domestic well will have very minimal impact to our overall watershed.

We need to be realistic about what we prioritize for water use in our state. Allowing people to grow food or farm products for sale with a gallon restriction on ½ acre will not bankrupt the system, and farming is too much work for people to rush into production on such a small scale. The solution in this bill does not increase the overall water available for exempt use, it simply allows people to sell the food and farm products it is already legal to grow. Give communities back the ability to feed and provide for themselves, pass HB 3372-5.

Thank you,
