

Submitter: Ryan Broyles

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Judiciary

Measure, Appointment or Topic: SB1015

While reducing community violence is a worthy goal, creating a new grant program through the Department of Justice risks inefficiency, bureaucratic waste, and a one-size-fits-all approach that may not effectively address the root causes of violence in diverse communities. Instead of funneling more federal money into new programs, existing resources should be optimized and community-led initiatives empowered without federal overreach.