Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB2945

Electric School buses just make sense. Whether it's about pollution and young, growing bodies or about cost of operation and maintenance, electric buses come out ahead. It's part of a whole, national shift toward the more sensible approach to both energy and transportation that will occur regardless of the national administration -- using renewable energy sources in sun and wind to power our home, neighborhoods, and grid and utilizing some of that power for transportation.
